

Sharing Final Presidential Search Prospectus
From the Co-Chairs of the Presidential Search Committee
11/7/2022

Dear members of the Mary Baldwin community,

On behalf of the Presidential Search Committee, we are pleased to announce that the national search for Mary Baldwin University's 10th president is about to get underway. We appreciate your valuable input and insights that helped inform the Search Committee's understanding of the skills, attributes, and important work ahead for our 10th president. Working collaboratively with our partners from Academic Search, we have prepared a search profile to provide an overview of Mary Baldwin, outline the key priorities and institutional needs, and describe the desired characteristics for our next president. The search profile will be used to introduce Mary Baldwin and the presidential opportunity to prospective candidates.

Following this announcement, the position will be advertised in a wide variety of publications and the formal recruiting process will begin. Our partners from Academic Search will be busy in the coming months as presidential candidates are identified and actively encouraged to apply. If you know of someone whom you would like to recommend for consideration, please send their name and contact information directly to MBUPresident@academicsearch.org.

The committee will begin the process of reviewing applications in early January. We are excited about this work and have confidence the search will bring us an accomplished, innovative, and courageous leader who will strategically advance and strengthen Mary Baldwin for the future.

We will provide periodic progress updates, which will be emailed to the campus community and posted on the Presidential Search webpage.

Sincerely,

Helen Forster '83
